

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Series Fact Sheet

Series description: If you think you know all it takes to be a chef and run a restaurant, then think again – you’ll learn some incredible lessons from COOKING UNDER FIRE, brand new on PBS this spring. COOKING UNDER FIRE will take viewers behind the scenes as aspiring chefs are put through a coast-to-coast challenge that tests all their talents – including culinary acumen, endurance, business skills, management abilities, artistic sensibility, and even purchasing power – revealing what it takes to work in the high-stakes, high-stress world of restaurants and fine dining. Using a fast-paced documentary-style format, this 12-part series is infused with all the excitement of reality television, and with an added dash of enlightenment, COOKING UNDER FIRE will provide greater understanding and respect for the ambition and aptitude necessary to excel in the competitive culinary world. The final show culminates with one skilled individual winning the job of chef at one of famed chef and restaurateur Todd English’s restaurants in New York City.
